

DATE/LOC

08/07/2023

Austin, TX.

Introducing: Nickel Hayden Advisors Public Finance Reimagined

Austin, TX – Nickel Hayden Advisors, LLC - a Texas minority and veteran-owned company, has arrived on the scene, ready to change the financial landscape for local municipalities. Inspired by the belief that strong communities create a thriving nation, we are proud to announce the official launch of our innovative firm.

At Nickel Hayden, we are fueled by a vision to transform how municipalities envision their financial future. Through strategic collaboration, innovative financing, and data-driven insights, we empower communities to thrive and prosper. With an unwavering commitment to resilience and sustainability, we chart a path where informed decisions drive success. Together, we reimagine public finance, creating a dynamic landscape where possibilities know no bounds, and municipalities embrace a brighter tomorrow. Join us on this audacious journey as we redefine the future of financial prosperity for municipalities across Texas.

At Nickel Hayden, we understand the unique financial challenges local governments face. Our team is committed to delivering personalized solutions that align with each community's goals. From debt management to project financing, we offer a diverse range of specialized municipal financial services.

We're here to help. Whether you have questions about our services or require expert municipal advisory, Nickel Hayden is your dedicated partner.

Connect with us today to explore how we can collaborate to achieve your community's financial goals. Reach out with confidence, knowing that you're engaging with a Texas minority and veteran-owned company that is passionate about driving positive change.

Rudy Mejia
Founder / CEO